One of the most important aspects of a motion picture is how it looks. The cinematography, the costumes, the makeup - these things all come together to create a believable world in which we can escape from our daily routine and explore for a few hours. We have compiled a list of some of the most beautiful looking films ever made, spanning decades and countries. In fact, it wasn't easy, as so many films could have made the list. But we had to be as exclusive as possible and choose just 10 films. So here is a selection of what we consider to be the best looking films ever made. In no particular order, let's start. Title:lucky kabootar 2014 hindi 720p download The visual effects in "Fantastic Voyage" by MGM were revolutionary for its time. It opened the world of filmmaking to a cheap yet efficient way of putting everything on screen. As a result, the next phase of cinema was born - CGI. Marc Craste's scientific/medical romance "A Case of Sam" is a good example of the development that visual effects played in that era, and this movie proves that computer graphics can be really gorgeous. With that said, let's turn our attention to "Aventura", by Carlos Saura and Juan Antonio Bardem. It is a brilliant comedy about young love, which looks both beautiful and bright. Title:lucky kabootar 2014 hindi 720p download "The Red Shoes" by Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger was made in 1948. This short film for the National Film Board of Canada was recently voted as one of the "most influential" movies of all time by the British Film Institute. It tells the story of a ballet dancer who risks everything in order to do what she loves and has always dreamed about doing: dance. The film is set to the music of Wagner's "The Flying Dutchman". "Come Drink with Me" (1958) is the ultimate Alfred Hitchcock movie. It follows Joan Fontaine as she takes revenge on her cheating husband, through seduction at a lonely, isolated villa. However, this elegant classic wasn't made to look beautiful - it is masterfully made suspenseful and rich in atmosphere. The music, by Alexandre Tansman, fits perfectly with the atmosphere of the film and adds to the overall beauty of "Come Drink with Me", which was also nominated for an Academy Award.
