An example of a book that has a custom font is the A5 sized book I'm working on right now which is based off of the Latin Modern font. The Latin Modern V9 is going to be put on a 3.5" 8 point monitor, so the standard 12 point A5 doesn't cut it. The curves on the Latin Modern V9 look really nice, but I'm having a bit of trouble getting all the glyphs to be aligned correctly. It's a complicated issue to just explain, but if you want to take a look, you can see an example of it below. I'm having trouble with the mathematical symbols and the M code. How can I make this look as nice as the curve oriented Latin Modern V9?. I'm hoping that this new font will look great 2d92ce491b
