Guide to Phoenix's newest beer district, Scottsdale By Kristina Cofer March 30, 2017 Scottsdale's newest beer district is coming together, and it's very different from the area's current expansion zone. Where Neighbors Brewery, Tallgrass Brewing and Steamworks are clustered, near the intersection of Pint House Lane and Scottsdale Road, is the second wave. This expansion is set to open in mid- to late 2017, when Boulder Station will open in the Scottsdale Highlands and a revitalized outlet at Arizona Mills moves from its current location (northeast of Scottsdale Road). The third wave — a handful of brewpubs, microbreweries and bars — will open in another cluster of Scottsdale's ever-expanding craft beer business. It's the most recent demonstration that Scottsdale's rapid craft beer evolution is very much in motion. The new craft beer district is taking shape at the corner of Scottsdale Road and Pint House Lane. (Photo by Scott Strazzante / The Republic) The new area, which is being called Scottsdale's Craft Beer District, will take shape on the southeast corner of Scottsdale Road and Pint House Lane, near the intersection of Patagonia and Pint House. A single-lane roundabout

will connect the neighborhood to the rest of the city and a link to the new Craft Beer District. Downtown Phoenix already has a few dozen establishments focused on craft beer — not just brewery tours but high-end beer bars and the rarieriums, such as Ratio Beerworks and Charizma. Breweries, breweries and more breweries have opened over the past decade, and the beer market continues to expand. 09e8f5149f
