JetBoost Crack+ Free Download [Win/Mac]

JetBoost is a performance booster that allows you to maximize the power that your computer is capable of by shutting down unnecessary processes and services. There are several situations where the presence of JetBoost could make a huge difference; activities like playing a game or working on a CAD project could turn into a challenge for your computer, especially if its resources are being used by some other process. With JetBoost, you will be able to make the most of your computer by setting it to pay less attention to some of the running applications and forcing it into focusing on what you're currently working on. It comes wrapped up inside a simple, yet elegant interface that allows you to customize various scenarios for boosting the performance of the system. First and foremost, it detects active processes together with their footprint on the CPU and memory, allowing you to shut down immediately the ones that are taking too much advantage of the resources. It also includes a list of the most common Windows services that are often running in the background without being of essential importance and therefore, can be turned off in order to gain power. Another set of tweaks allows you to have the application clean the RAM and the clipboard periodically, as well as to disable automatic updates that tend to interrupt you from your activities. Any changes you make are reversible, JetBoost being able of bringing your computer back to the exact state prior to the modifications. Overall, JetBoost makes a good impression by the freedom of choice it gives you in so many aspects. The scenarios are highly customizable and the changes can be undone, which is more than you can ask for. Key Features: – Detection and shut down of active processes – List of Windows services and their names – Automatic clean up of RAM – Disable automatic updates JetBoost Manual JetBoost won't wake you up when you're on that important call, so we've included a stopwatch, with a timer, for just that reason. Say "Good Morning" to your new mornings at just the right time. Enjoy the simplicity of a clock and a timer right in your clock face. You can also see the time remaining on your computer, on the Windows desktop, or the desktop of any application or window you have open. How does it work? If the clock app is running in the system tray and active, your phone receives the notification on the background. When the notification is received, the clock app is launched, and starts counting down
