Letter: Vote for pension reform I believe the conversation about our government's pension systems needs to become more important, more personal and more publicly exposed. I have had the good fortune of personally receiving a pension for over two decades. In contrast, my friends have worked and collected a pension for less than 15 years. When they retire it is obvious they are living comfortably on the investments their pension made for them. In contrast, I have to work as a janitor in order to take care of my necessities. Being a public employee
