In SharePoint online, is it possible to create a new document library via the REST API? I'd like to do this to take advantage of the changes that have been made to the FileType column to enable content authors to provide metadata in the shape of a friendly string for the column. I'd like to be able to create the new document library by uploading a template with all required fields. Does it make sense to do something like this? A: You can use the list.AddItem method to create a document library. You can read more about it at: Example: POST 'ListName')/items HTTP/1.1 Host: tenanint.sharepoint.com Content-Type: application/json Content-Length: 99 { "__metadata": { "type": "SP.ListItemCreationInformation" }, "File_x0020_Type": "Document" } Reference: The Riemann Hypot 09e8f5149f
