However, I was trying to create a DVD slideshow for someone and ran into a few issues. To my surprise, the DVD burner on the system I was using was not working. The main program I had was for creating video slideshows, so I assumed that it would be the best fit. Well, it turns out that the free DVD Album Creator would work just as well. It is a more advanced version of this program that came out in late 2005. It works well
