MyJaPhoO X64

MyJaPhoO is a media file organizer that can lend you a hand with storing, organizing and previewing all your albums and collections on your local drives, irrespective of format. Slightly stale, yet versatile and well-organized interface Even though the colors, shapes and lines are not impressive, the interface is actually well-built and versatile. The UI is comprised of numerous panels that enable a tree view displaying basic info and details regarding the files. It is important to note that you can move these panels around by dragging the titles to more convenient positions. Moreover, you can close the ones you do not need and create your own window preset.

Enables flexibility and customization The app includes 3 viewing modes, namely Thumb list, Thumbs and Stripes. As the name suggests, they enable you to preview files in as thumbnails, small pictures with attributes or photos that feature stripes. In addition, you can open multiple main windows featuring all the definitions, filters and modes simultaneously. These modes can be quite useful when you are working on multiple projects at the same time, for instance. Comes with a smooth and complete search function By far one of the most important roles of a media organizer is its ability to make searching for a certain video or photo seamlessly.

You can add tags, metaTags, include ratings, titles, comments and group files in trees, so you can preview and identify them faster. The particularity of MyJaPhoO is that it relies on SQL databases to enable you to make queries on the local drives based on media files' properties. This function can come in handy when you are manipulating hundreds of media files per day and you cannot keep track of their names anymore. Then again, keep in mind that the app only handles images that are supported by Java, namely BMP, GIF, JPEG and PNG.

A truly comprehensive media manager Due to its wide range of search and organize functions, MyJaPhoO can be a complete tool for advanced users who regularly need to manage large media and photo collections. Pros: Superior UI Comes with a smooth and complete search function A truly comprehensive media manager

Cons: Stale interface Needs to be updated frequently What's New:
-Minor bug fixes The Premeio image generator is a powerful tool to create images of any type and format you can imagine, and convert your images in any format for use in web, print or other types

MyJaPhoO is a video & photo manager for Windows. It is a comprehensive tool that can be used to explore, organize & store your pictures in different formats.

Download MyJaPhoO to enjoy a highly interactive user interface with a friendly color scheme. Use the search bar to quickly find your files, open and select them.

Organize photos on your drive with categories, tags, keywords and dates. Export albums or just one picture with the flexible display option. You can easily export collections of media and files directly to different devices.

MyJaPhoO User Reviews: Hands down the best media organizer I've ever used. It's fairly new, so maybe it'll get better, but I've seen a couple of fixes already in the last couple of days. I've tried a couple of 3rd party choices, but in the end, it has to be media organizer, so I'll keep going back to this app. You can plug in SD cards, USB drives, your NAS, the list is endless. You can even choose to sync your Jumpshare account so that it can save your shared collection. If you use your card reader to access your cards and flash drives you already have, sync comes in real handy.

Q: jquery: how to find a td and get its text? If I have a line of code that looks like this:
0.00 What is the best way to get the text, 0.00? Thanks

A: :text selector should be what you want $(".tdCLSmall:text").html()

A: If you only have a class, you can use.text() instead of :text selector.
$(".tdCLSmall").text()

But if you

---

have multiple s, you can use.eq() function to get the text from specific index :

$("#td.tdCLSmall").eq(1).text(); A:
$(document).ready(function() { $('.tdCLSmall').text(); }); or $('.tdCLSmall').each(function() { $(this).text(); }); you can even try this: $('.tdCLSmall').each(function(i ndex) {
