"The best thing that has come out of our meeting was this conversation because this wasn't the first time that we talked about this," he said. Mr Obama, a former president of the US, met the Chinese leader Xi Jinping in the Rose Garden of the White House. The two discussed trade, climate change and cyber security. The US and China have more to discuss than ever, as the China-US trade relationship heats up. During his visit to Washington, Mr Xi also made a high-profile trip to California to meet tech entrepreneurs. But there were tensions over a landmark trade deal that seemed to be running into the sand. The issues of the day have been widely discussed during the G20 summit - from climate change and economics to China's growing hold on global tech firms, and relations between the US and China. Cyber security The leaders of the two countries even found a common ground on cybersecurity, agreeing to work together to expand joint cyber security efforts. "We committed to strengthen international cooperation and promote cybersecurity norms and standards," the White House said in a statement. I have done it using service (UIActivityindicator) and run it in the background. But the problem is that if the current playing audio is stopped, then the next one wont play. How can i make it work? Is it possible to start the audio before it gets stopped? A: You need to use the play method in a Thread, not on the UI Thread. i.e. Thread t = new Thread(new Runnable() { @Override public void run d0c515b9f4

A2. in the midst of a major revision of the (already constantly evolving) Devotional. We are using this year's theme "Year of the Bible" as a prompt to think through what we want to present in the Devotional each week. As I was thinking about my thoughts, I came across a blog post by Brene Brown that struck me. She speaks to the need for righteous anger and not letting it get hijacked by bitterness. This is such a great reminder to be thoughtful about how we react to perceived injustices. I do think there are things we as Christians are called to react to with righteous anger, but I believe these opportunities are extremely rare. And even when they present themselves, the temptation is often to get hung up on the offense. But if we let the offense own us, that is our fault. It should not be theirs. Please think on this with me as we continue to look at the theme of the year and create our devotional content. This past week marked the twelfth anniversary of the Hurricane Katrina disaster. The images of people's struggle for survival are still haunting my mind. The images of rescue workers carrying children out of
