These entries are being included in a batch of files in a folder, and I need to remove them all from that folder in notepad. My current code creates a text file with the needed text in it, but I am not sure how to update that text file with the deletion of the previously mentioned lines. A: You can remove lines using string replace: Set objFile = CreateObject("Scripting.FileSystemObject") strPath = "C:\test.txt" Set objFile = objFSO.CreateTextFile(strPath) objFile.WriteLine "1" objFile.WriteLine "2" objFile.WriteLine "3" objFile.Close Set objFile = objFSO.OpenTextFile(strPath) strLine = objFile.ReadAll() objFile.Close strLine = Replace(strLine, "1", "") strLine = Replace(strLine, "2", "") strLine = Replace(strLine, "3", "") For Each strline in strLine objFile.WriteLine strline Next objFile.Close 1. Field of the Invention This invention relates to attachments to cylindrical objects of regular or irregular cross-section to change the diameter thereof, and to a novel attachment and a novel method of connecting such an attachment to a cylindrical object. The invention is especially useful for the replacement of worn attachments. 2. Description of the Prior Art Cylindrical objects of relatively constant cross-section, particularly pipe and rod, are used as conduits for transmission of fluids, such as liquids and gases, throughout the world. In such use it is desirable to prevent leakage therefrom. In the case of relatively rigid cylindrical objects, such as piping, it is well known to use attachments to alter the internal diameter of such objects, such attachments being referred to as "dilators" or "fittings". Such attachment is designed to be used with an object to allow this object to be expanded by introduction of a liquid into an internal chamber of the object, and is taken from a stack of attachment components by an operator or the like to slide onto and from the object and then to expand the object to a larger diameter. While such systems are desirable for the expansion of
