Artificial neural network for the classification of respiration states by respiratory gas analysis and hemodynamics in critically ill patient: a pilot study. The purpose of this study was to design a neural network for classification of respiratory states using respiratory gas analysis and hemodynamics in critical patients to guide the decision to intubate or not.

Artificial neural network was used to classify respiratory states using respiratory gas analysis and hemodynamics (vital signs, heart rate, mean arterial blood pressure, central venous pressure, and arterial oxygen saturation). A training set of patients (N=73) and a testing set of patients (N=24) were identified. Within the training set, random partitions were made to develop a neural network (NN) model. In the testing set, the model was tested to predict the state of patients. The NN model produced by the training set achieved a sensitivity of 92.3% and specificity of 92.3% in the testing set. This shows the ability of NN to perform well despite small sample sizes. The NN provided further support for the classification of respiratory states using respiratory gas analysis and hemodynamics as a decision-making tool in critically ill patients.

Q: Discord Bot PM Team Message I'm trying to create a Discord bot that can send PM messages for members of our team. The problem I have is that after testing the bot on Discord, the application just returns the message. Here's the code:

client.on('message', message => { if (message.author.bot) { return;
