----- Google Scanner scan your site. With it you can tell what pages of your website are visited. How the program works. I created a method called GetUrls(string search query) that works by searching the web for the search string you entered. Within that method I also strip out double spaces from the string before doing the search. After the search is completed I'm logging all of the results into a data table and returning them to you as a string that I display on the form. It's so easy and simple to use. Scanning and Crawling Websites.

----- Google search the web for a keywords. After return data in a list of URLs. You can use this data in a web browser, to see all the pages that you are pointing to or create another program to be able to do more with this. I use this method of giving you back the URLs when you start the program, and when you input a search string. URL List Filtering. ----- The URL List may show duplicate or multiple pages, I have a method called filterURLList() that removes these double entries. If you have URLs of more than 1,000 lines you will be able to use this method. Google Page Rank Calculation.

----- Google search the web for a search string, get the result pages, sort the result pages with it's Page Rank, use the Page Rank to calculate your Page Rank, rank your site with it's internal Page Rank, show your Page Rank to other people, maybe you should try Garekk? Download the latest version of Google Scanner Add search term in to program. Press go. Then wait. Then start your web browser and go to the URL. The URL address will be written on the main form. You can open this URL with any program. It's free, open source, share able and the source code is available on GitHub.
